

OBU Social Club Handbook 2019-2020

We are excited you have chosen to become a member of the Oklahoma Baptist University Family, and we look forward to assisting you in your educational and co-curricular pursuits during your college career. An important part of the college experience is the relationships you will develop during your time at OBU.

Throughout the past 30+ years, Social Clubs have played an important role in many of the traditions at OBU and continue to be instrumental in the success of Student Life at OBU. Social Clubs exist to fulfill in part the mission of Oklahoma Baptist University by equipping students to

- 1) pursue academic excellence,
- 2) integrate faith with all areas of knowledge,
- 3) engage a diverse world, and
- 4) live worthy of the high calling of God in Christ.

Social Clubs, at Oklahoma Baptist University, provide an excellent way to enhance your education and meet new and interesting people, who share common interests and goals. The friendships forged through these Christ-centered social clubs are strong, with shared memories and experiences that will play a significant role in your personal journey through the college years and beyond.

Joining one of the Social Club organizations affords you the chance to explore exclusive learning opportunities through fellowship, service, ministry, discipleship, leadership, and academic support programs. You will be challenged in all aspects to achieve excellence in your life and through your affiliation with your Social Club. The purpose of Social Club organizations is the holistic personal development of each member, with primary focus on the spiritual maturation of the student in his or her walk with the Lord. Through this holistic approach, our desire is for each student overall experience at OBU to be enhanced.

While each Social Club is autonomous and independent of each other, they are interconnected through their official student organization sponsorship by the University and their charter through the Student Government Association (SGA). OBU provides supervision and guidance to Greek organizations through the appointment of a full-time professional faculty or staff member of the University, who serves as the advisor and mentor to each social club. OBU sponsors only local Social Club organizations and does not permit the chartering of national fraternities and sororities.

As you consider the various student organizational opportunities on campus, you are encouraged to ask questions and develop a sense of what you are looking for in your collegiate experience. Although social clubs do not appeal to every student's needs and interests, OBU offers a diverse array of student organizations. These student clubs and groups, along with social clubs provide students with the opportunity of joining a vibrant and exciting campus community, and this campus cultural experience can be transformational.

Please feel free to contact the Director of Student Leadership & Engagement, Melissa Stroud, if you have any questions or concerns regarding Social Clubs at OBU.

Active/Full member

An active member is a student who has accepted a bid from a social club organization, participated in new member orientation, and been accepted into the chapter.

App Short for application, ‘app forms’ must be submitted by the rushee prior to Rush so active members can learn more about each prospective member. Applications solicit detailed information about the rushee's interests, background, volunteer service, academic major, career aspirations, reason for interest in Social Clubs, spiritual testimony, etc.

Bid A formal invitation to join a Social Club. The formal bid is usually extended following a designated Rush (membership enrollment) period. Prospective new members may receive more than one bid, but may only select a single chapter’s invitation to join.
EX: “At the end of Rush, she received a bid from two chapters.”

Chapter Describes a group of individuals associated with a particular Greek letter organization. Each chapter is defined by their own name, mission, symbols, and colors.

Dues Each chapter establishes membership fees that help finance the organization’s activities and events. These dues are the responsibility of each member and should be taken into consideration when joining a Social Club organization.

Hazing The prohibited act of subjecting new members to harassing, meaningless, difficult, humiliating or dangerous tasks in order to gain membership to the organization. Hazing is a violation of Federal law and, as such, is subject to both expulsion from the University and criminal charges.

New Member Orientation The act of becoming an active member. This rite of passage is often associated with some type of ritual or ceremony.

Ministry A charity or non-profit organization usually selected by a chapter to which ministry, volunteer or service work, and fund-raising are invested.

Mixer	A social gathering in which one or more chapters host another Social Club organization for a time of fun and fellowship. These mixers often have themes and encourage interaction and participation from those in attendance. These activities provide the opportunity for meeting other students.
New member	Term given to a student who accepts an invitation to join a Social Club organization, but who has not yet become a full member. New members are usually involved in some type of chapter education as they await initiation into full membership. Also known as pledge. EX: “The new members were excited to receive their bids.”
Prospective Member	A student who qualifies for consideration and has applied to join a Greek letter organization. Also known as “Rushee.”
Rho Phi	A small group of prospective fraternity/sorority members who go through the Rush process together led by an active member of an unidentified Social Club organization of the University.
Ritual	The ceremony associated with initiation into the active membership of a Greek chapter. During this time, new members may learn information privy only to active members. During this ceremony, students transfer their status from new members or pledges into active members.
Rush	The process whereby prospective new members meet and interact with active members to learn about the chapter, its mission, background, activities, and events. EX: “Are you planning to go through Rush this spring?”
Rushees	New students participating in the Rush process, through exploring and evaluating the possibility of joining one of the Social Club organizations.
Social Club	Single gender student organizations usually designated with Greek letters. These organizations have a membership selection process and provide members with an opportunity for holistic personal development through fellowship, ministry, service, discipleship, and academic support programs, activities, and events.

Greek Life:

Academic Excellence, Fellowship, Leadership, Service, and Spiritual Growth

The social club experience at OBU is a unique blend of social activities, service, ministry, leadership, and spiritual growth. While each organization has its own distinctive character, each social club contributes to the campus life and the university community. Students learn and grow from those involved in their own organizations, but also from those engaged in similar experiences in the other OBU social club organizations. There are numerous activities and events that allow students to gain hands-on leadership experience, as well as grow in their personal development and their relationship with the Lord.

The activity calendar of a member of the social club community is never dull! Whether attending a campus activity with club sisters or brothers, playing on your chapter's intramural team, attending a weekly discipleship and accountability group meeting, or taking part in fellowship with one of the other social club organizations, there is always something fun and exciting occurring. The members in your organization will become some of your closest friends as you engage the college experience together. The mutual support, spiritual growth, and academic accountability encountered through the members of each chapter are benefits of the social club system.

As core values of Oklahoma Baptist University, being missional-purposed and community-directed are key components of OBU's social clubs. Each organization supports and serves with various ministry and charitable organizations in Shawnee and surrounding communities. Both individually and as a group, the social club community has accepted the responsibility to contribute to the success of these charities and ministries as they volunteer to support their goals and missions.

Joining a Social Club provides instant access to support and encouragement through the sisterhood or brotherhood of OBU social clubs. While each organization holds high standards for each member of the organization, accountability and discipleship go hand-in-hand as incoming members learn about themselves, their interdependence upon fellow members, and their relationship with the Lord. Maintaining a strong commitment to discipleship is an integral part of the Student Life experience at OBU.

Through the student's involvement in ministry opportunities, committee work, and organizational activity, members of social clubs develop leadership skills that they can utilize in all areas of their lives. These leadership skills teach the students how to interact with members of their organization, student clubs, and fellow classmates in a cooperative effort. The leadership skills that will be developed by being a member of a social club are among the most valuable learning experiences students will have through their Student Life involvement.

Members of OBU Social Clubs are also expected to maintain high academic standards. Each chapter utilizes various study workshops, tutoring sessions, or required study halls to help new members pursue academic excellence and to learn how to balance their academic responsibilities and co-curricular experiences.

Each member financially supports his or her Social Club through member dues. Membership dues range from $60-$200 a semester, depending on the chapter's guidelines.

Rush week:

An overview of new member recruitment

OBU follows a formal Rush model, students interested in participating in the spring Rush must register prior to the beginning of Rush events. The application helps organization members learn more about each interested student before Rush begins and begin to connect a name with a face and story.

Rush Week gives prospective new members an opportunity to get to know the active members of all the social clubs. Rushees will be placed in small groups called Rho Phi's (Rush Families) and guided to the various Rush activities by their appointed Rho Phi leader.

Each social club chapter will host opportunities each night of Rush Week for prospective new members to meet active members, fellowship, have fun, ask questions, and become familiar with the distinctive characteristics of each chapter. After each round of activities, prospective new members will have a better idea with which chapters they feel the best fit. Once all Rush activities have concluded, each chapter will select which Rush participants with whom they would like to offer bids for membership. This selection process by active chapter members and chapter advisors is conducted through sincere peer evaluation, reflective discussion, and prayerful consideration. Once each social club has made their selections for membership bids, the Bid List is then compared to the 3rd and final preference each Rushee to has attended at least two of the three evenings. Final bids are made first to those who mutually selected the particular club as their first "pref" and then the list is worked through submitted to the Office of Student Engagement and the Dean of Students office for final review, approval, and processing.

On Bid Day, each new student bid recipient will be provided with a Bid Card indicating the chapter(s) that has offered the student a bid social club membership. Each student will indicate if he or she accepts or declines their bid. Students accepting chapter bids are then presented to their new social club brothers or sisters at Bid Day festivities on the last day of Rush. This presentation marks the beginning of the student's affiliation with his or her social club chapter as the student moves from prospective new member to Pledge.

Rush Week Schedule (example)

The Process of New Member Orientation:

What it means go through New Member Orientation

One of the most active and exciting times in your social club experience will be your new member orientation period. This process provides an opportunity for new members awaiting full membership to become educated about their chapter and the OBU community in general. Each chapter will provide new members with material regarding their organization - its structure and foundational principals. New members will also have an opportunity to develop lifelong friendships with their pledge brothers and sisters.

While new member orientation can be an exciting and fun-filled time for the pledge class, it has, in the past, also been associated with the unfortunate and prohibited practice of hazing. Hazing is defined as the act of subjecting new members to harassment, meaningless, difficult, humiliating or dangerous tasks in order to gain membership to the organization. Hazing is a violation of Federal law and, as such, is subject to both expulsion from the university and criminal charges. Any student subjected to hazing activities, witnessing hazing activities or having knowledge of these practices should report this activity immediately to their club sponsor, Assistant Dean of Students, Melissa Stroud, or the Dean of Students, Odus Compton. Hazing is not tolerated in any form at Oklahoma Baptist University.

Following new member orientation and after meeting the necessary requirements of the chapter, each member waiting full membership will be welcomed by the active chapter and given full member status. At that time the member can begin taking on a more active role in the leadership of the organization and assist in the recruitment process for future members. Once a member has gone through the entire new member orientation and been inducted into their social club, they are no longer eligible to participate in rush ever again.

Membership Requirements:

Rush, Member, and Academic Requirements

Each student entering the Rush process must be a full-time student (at least 12 hours), enrolled in good standing and free from any academic probation or provisional admission status. Returning students must have an established grade point average of 2.5 or better. Only undergraduate students are eligible to participate in the social club rush process. After being inducted, social club members but maintain a 2.5 GPA or better to remain active members in their respective organization.

Each Rush participant must apply to participate in the Rush process. The deadline to register for Spring Rush is February 14. Students who have previously accepted bids from a social club organization on campus and later elect to remove themselves from the pledge process are not eligible to join another group for one full academic year.

Rushees must attend all Rush orientations and hosted parties. Individuals wanting to participate in the Rush process are required to attend all Rush engagements including orientation sessions, Rush events and Rho Phi meetings. If a student has a class conflict, they must inform their Rho Phi leader prior to the scheduled meeting time.

Rushees may not purchase, make, or otherwise provide gifts for members of Greek organizations. Members of social club organizations are also not permitted to provide gifts to Rushees during the formal Rush process. Rushees and active social club members are also prohibited from visiting with each other outside of formal Rush activities during the formal Rush period unless to discuss academic matters. Any visitation violation could result in removal from the Rush process and/or forfeiture of membership privileges.

Rushees may not give promise, either verbal or written, to join a certain organization before the formal bid process at the conclusion of the Rush period.

A Few More Words on Hazing...

The new member orientation process upholds the learning opportunities of fellowship, service, ministry, discipleship, leadership and academic support programs. OBU is committed to the intellectual, physical, spiritual, and social development of its students. As a core value of OBU, Social clubs are expected to be Christ centered. Campus organizations should emphasize the development of unity and respect for the dignity and worth of each individual. Hazing, in any form, does not uphold these learning opportunities. No forms of hazing will be allowed in the pledging process. The pledging process is meant to be an edifying process (Ephesians 4:29) in which the pledge is encouraged and valued.

In accordance with its mission and Oklahoma state law (Title 21, Section 1190), Oklahoma Baptist University aggressively seeks to create an environment free from hazing. A member (new or active) will neither participate in nor passively condone any pledging activity that may produce the following results:

1. Endanger one's physical, mental or spiritual health;
2. Reduce one's self esteem;
3. Violate any form of University policy;
4. Violate any form of local state, and/or federal law;
5. Involve the use of alcohol, drugs, or any controlled substance;
6. Violate one's moral or religious convictions; and
7. Conflict in any way with the academic demands of the University.

The University maintains a strict policy which prohibits hazing, including any activity that may recklessly or intentionally endanger the mental or physical health or safety of the student for the purpose of initiation or admission into or affiliation with any University-sponsored organization. Individuals or organizations persisting in hazing activities as defined by the guidelines shall be subject to disciplinary action. Willful participation in hazing activities by the pledge shall not relieve the organization or its members from disciplinary action by the University. It is the responsibility of the student and/or organization to be fully aware of and adhere to the hazing guidelines.

Violations of hazing guidelines shall be reported to the sponsor who shall make the initial attempt to resolve the alleged conflict. If the matter is not resolved satisfactorily, the student reporting the matter and/or sponsor shall inform the Social Club Council President of the situation and he/she shall attempt to resolve the matter through the Judicial Council process.

The following are possible examples of hazing. This is not an inclusive list, but intended to help guide the pledge process.

NEW MEMBER EDUCATION PROGRAM:

What Do New Members Expect from Their Education Process?

New Members desire many things from their social clubs. They expect these things when they become full members, and they expect them during their education period.

They want:

- To develop long-lasting personal friendships
- To have a positive experience with their organization
- To learn the history and the details about their organization
- To feel wanted and needed
- To be valued as an invested member
- To be informed about what their organization expects from them
- To join an organization, not a disorganization
- To be respected as individuals and members
- To be helped in adjusting to college life, classes, and organization responsibilities
- To have fair treatment and not be subservient to initiated members
- To do only the work that initiated members do
- To respect older members
- To have initiation requirements, but not to have to earn active status through personal favors, competition or juvenile activities
- To grow spiritually, and to be involved in ministering to one another and others
- To fellowship through service opportunities
- To develop leadership potential
- To have lots of fun. After all, what did everyone tell them during rush?

Goals of a Productive New Member Program

- Teach organizational mission, values, and identity
- Foster Unity
- Develop Leadership Skills
- Instill a sense of belonging and membership
- Promote Scholarship
- Instill history and legacy of organization
- Build Knowledge of and Increase Relations to other Greek organizations on campus
- Involve new members in the local and campus community
- Mature Spiritually in a community

When Developing a New Member Education Program

- Know Thyself! Have a clear understanding of who you are as an organization and what you are about.
- Have a clear, written mission statement for your new member education program and for the Big/Little Brother/Sister Program.
- Make the new member program as consistent as possible from semester to semester. Don't leave room for gross interpretation.
- Have all members involved in the process of new member education.
- Don't over program or monopolize a new member's time.
- Don't expect or require things from a new member that you don't expect from a member (e.g. study hours, wearing a pledge pin when members aren't wearing their membership badges/pins, daily/nightly meetings, early morning meetings, etc.)
- Make fraternal values and principles the basis for the new member program.

- Make the academic achievement and support of new members a priority and a component of the new member education program.
- Include the concept of lifetime membership in the new member education program. Stress that the fraternity/sorority experience doesn't end your junior year and shouldn't end upon graduation. Discuss the opportunities for lifetime involvement: advising undergraduate chapters, alumni reunions, making financial donations to the organization's Educational Foundation, etc.
- If in doubt about the appropriateness of a new member activity, ask the Dean of Students. You will never get "in trouble" for asking whether something could be construed as hazing!

Before New Member Education

- Review your new member program at the beginning of each semester with the help of the Assistant Dean of Student Leadership and Engagement, Dean of Students your advisor, and active members.
- Set high membership eligibility standards and make recruitment the process of "earning your letters" through a potential new member's character, academic performance, leadership, and potential. New member education should be the process learning to integrate their existing skills and talents into the organization and identifying areas they would like to develop through the Greek Life experience.
- Provide a written copy of your new member program and expectations to potential new members during recruitment and again to new members before new member education begins.
- Relay chapter expectations to alumni. Don't be afraid to set boundaries with alumni and hold them accountable as you would a member.
- Involve families in the new member education process. Send copies of your new member program and a letter of introduction, including the chapter's stance on hazing, to the families of new members. Develop an event where families can visit the chapter during new member education.
- Communicate in writing what new members should do if they are overwhelmed or feel pressure to do something they normally would not.

During New Member Education

- Take any concerns expressed by new members seriously. If you don't know how to handle a situation, ask the Assistant Dean of Student Leadership and Engagement, Dean of Students or your advisor.
- Review ritual with new members before initiation to alleviate any fears they may have.
- Host a brotherhood/sisterhood event for members before each initiation where you discuss ritual procedures and its message (your organization's values and expectations).

After New Member Education

- Review the ritual process, message and your organizational values with new members during a post-initiation retreat.
- Ask new members to evaluate the new member program after initiation and provide feedback for ways to improve the experience for the next group of new members.
- Review the new member program after each initiation with all members to determine how the experience can be improved for both members and new members. If issues or problems arose, ask the Dean of Students or the advisor for help in addressing these issues during the next new member education program.
- Don't fall into the trap of treating new initiates as second-class citizens. Eliminate the use of the term "rookie," "newbie," or "pledge." (if used).
